The questions below should be seen as starting points for personal investigations in which you make reference to critical and contextual material with which you are familiar.

Choose one of the following questions.

1 Abstract Elements in the Landscape

Abstract elements of line, shape and pattern in the landscape have inspired many artists from different cultures. Look at examples and produce work based on this idea.

2 Skulls

Skulls have featured in the work of many artists and have a particular significance in certain cultural events. They provide opportunities to study form and structure but can also carry important messages about mortality. Look at examples and develop your own work based on 'skulls'.

3 Native American Art

The diverse range of art and crafts of the Native Americans has distinctive characteristics. Research examples and develop work, in any appropriate media, which is influenced by the patterns, colours, shapes and imagery that you have observed.

4 Figures in Groups

The particular dynamics of figures in groups have provided interesting sources of study for artists working in traditional two- or three-dimensional media. They have also, more recently, provided ideal subject matter for work in photography, film and video. Look at examples and produce work based on this theme.

5 A Visual Diary

There are many examples of artists producing a series of images which reflects their observations of particular places, events or journeys. Develop work of your own based on this idea, making reference to relevant work by others.
