

MARK SCHEME for the October/November 2010 question paper for the guidance of teachers

0470 HISTORY

0470/12

Paper 1, maximum raw mark 60

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes must be read in conjunction with the question papers and the report on the examination.

CIE will not enter into discussions or correspondence in connection with these mark schemes.

CIE is publishing the mark schemes for the October/November 2010 question papers for most IGCSE, GCE Advanced Level and Advanced Subsidiary Level syllabuses and some Ordinary Level syllabuses.

APPLICATION OF THE MARK SCHEME

1 Use of the Mark Scheme

- 1.1 It is not possible to cover every possible type of response within a levels of response mark scheme and examiners are expected to use their professional judgement at all times in ensuring that responses are placed in the correct levels and given an appropriate mark within that level.
- 1.2 Marking must be positive. Marks must not be deducted for inaccurate or irrelevant answers. Half- marks must not be used.
The full range of marks should be used. Do not be afraid to award full marks or no marks. Failure to do this will seriously affect the distribution of marks. Be prepared to reward candidates who show any level of understanding. The mark scheme starts from basic acceptable response.
- 1.4 Be consistent from script to script and from batch to batch.
- 1.5 Indicate that all answers have been seen.
- 1.6 Do not transfer marks from one part of a question to another.
- 1.7 If a candidate reaches a particular level s/he must be rewarded with a mark within that level. It is not necessary to work through the levels.
- 1.8 Exhaustive lists of possible facts are not given in the mark scheme, as there is often a choice of factual knowledge that candidates may use.
- 1.9 WHERE EXAMPLES OF RESPONSES ARE GIVEN, THESE ARE NOT PRESCRIPTIVE, BUT ARE INTENDED AS A GUIDE.
- 1.10 Where a band of marks is indicated for a level these marks should be used with reference to the development of the answer within that level.

2 Marking

- 2.1 All marking should be in red.
- 2.2 The level, and mark awarded for each part question, MUST be shown clearly in the margin of the script towards the end of an answer, e.g. L3/8.
- 2.3 At the end of each question the total mark achieved by the candidate for that question MUST be indicated in a circle.
- 2.4 The total mark for each question should be transferred to the front page of the script. The marks for the three questions should be totalled and indicated. The final total for the script should then be circled.
- 2.6 It is not necessary to tick the body of an answer and examiners should refrain from doing so.
- 2.7 Examiners must indicate, in the body of the response, where a level has been achieved and, where appropriate, marks are gained.

'Russia and Serbia were unhappy in 1908 when Austria took over Bosnia and Herzegovina. Germany made it clear it was supporting Austria. Russia was humiliated, driving it closer to Britain and France. A dispute between one of the members of each camp could well involve other members. This humiliated Russia who were not likely to back down again and who moved closer to Britain and France. After the assassination Germany supported Austria against the Serbs.'

OR

'Following the assassination at Sarajevo of the heir to the A-H throne, Austria declared war on Serbia despite the Serbs not wanting war. This brought Russia into conflict as it supported the Serbs and was determined not to back down this time. Germany supported its ally Austria-Hungary by declaring war on Russia and then France. This was the immediate cause of war.'

'The Kaiser adopted a more aggressive approach to the rest of the world. He ended friendly relations with Russia and as a result other countries saw Germany as a threat.'

'Germany had grown equal to Britain in wealth and industry and wanted an Empire like Britain. The Kaiser's aggressive attitude suggested he might take parts of the Empire's of Britain and France (Morocco) and this was seen as a threat.'

'Germany entered the arms race, building up a navy to challenge British supremacy. There was a race to see who could build the largest battleships. Germany's army was already powerful and Britain feared German world domination if it had the strongest navy as well.'

The League failed to take decisive action.'

'Membership of the League was a problem from the beginning, reducing its effectiveness. Not all nations were members including the USA. Others left when coming into dispute with the League. This weakened the League.'

e.g. The Tet Offensive (1968) proved to be a turning point. It highlighted the cost of war. There were nearly 500,000 troops in Vietnam and America was spending between $20 and $30 billion a year, yet little impression was being made and the Vietcong were able to launch major offensives like this and take the US forces completely by surprise. In 1967 'Life Magazine' calculated it cost $400,000 for each Vietcong guerrilla killed. This huge spending meant cutbacks in spending on social reform. In addition, the American media started to turn and began to ask difficult questions.'

Coverage showed children being burned by napalm and people in villages massacred. American people were sickened by these atrocities and public opinion was changing.'

'As more and more soldiers returned in body bags or were considered to be on drugs, public opinion turned. It led to open criticism of Johnson – "Hey, Hey, LBJ, how many kids did you kill today".'

e.g. 'Gero was replaced by Nagy.'

'The Soviet tanks withdrew but Nagy announced that Hungary was to leave the Warsaw Pact and that there would be free democratic elections.'

'The troops and 1 000 tanks returned but the Hungarians fought back.'

'In two weeks of fighting many were killed, arrested, imprisoned and executed. Modern-day estimates suggest around 4 000 Hungarians were killed. Around 200 000 fled across the border to Austria to escape the Communist forces.'

'Hard-line Soviet control was re-established under Kádár and Nagy was captured and hanged (1958).'

(b) Why was Solidarity formed in Poland in 1980?

(c) How far was the collapse of Soviet control over Eastern Europe due to the reforms of Gorbachev? Explain your answer.

Level 1 Unsupported assertions [1]

e.g. 'Gorbachev was responsible because he was in power.'

Level 2 Identifies reasons [2–3]

'He introduced reforms.'

'He made links with the West.'

'Communist countries were no longer dominated.'

'USSR was broken up.'

'He introduced 'perestroika' and 'glasnost'.'

'Solidarity was responsible more than Gorbachev.'

Level 3 Explains impact of Gorbachev OR other reasons [3–5]

e.g. 'Gorbachev proposed many changes that the hard-line communist found difficult to accept. He was unpopular because his economic reforms did not work as they expected too much too quickly. Corruption ran too deeply for the changes to happen. His withdrawal of Red Army support for other communist countries resulted in one by one the communist governments coming to an end.'

The role of Gorbachev can be highlighted by:

'Gorbachev proposed that the Soviet economy should be improved by "perestroika" – restructuring, including capitalist practices.'

'There should be more "glasnost" – openness to restoring faith in government and end corruption. People who criticised the government should no longer be persecuted.'

'He proposed a cut back in money spent on the arms race and signed a treaty with the USA.'

'Communist governments in Eastern Europe could no longer expect support from the Red Army.'

OR

'The Soviet Union was also in crisis, and needed change, because there was much corruption with many Party members living in luxury whilst the workers were living in poverty. The people no longer had faith in their government as they saw the West getting richer and they were living in poverty. This bred unrest.'

'Industry and agriculture were not efficient and there was the need for expensive imports.'

'Gorbachev realised he could not afford the arms race on which large sums of money were being spent at the expense of many citizens living in poverty. He signed Treaties with the USA which effectively ended the Cold War and the need to support its satellites. Within months the communists were ousted from power in places such as Poland, Hungary and East Germany as the countries realised the tanks would not be sent in.'

An expensive war was being fought in Afghanistan which was having a negative world effect on how the Soviets were being viewed.'

'The Solidarity movement showed that if people stood together against oppression it was difficult to deal with. In the 1989 elections in Poland anti-communist candidates won a striking victory. This sparked peaceful anti-communist revolutions in Hungary, East Germany and Czechoslovakia.'

'The promise to reverse the Treaty of Versailles appealed to nationalists and those who believed the 'stab in the back' theory. This also won the support of the German armed forces.'

'They promised to tackle unemployment. With millions out of work because of the Depression this attracted the support of middle-class Germans.'

'Many women were attracted to the party by its emphasis on family life and self-discipline.'

'The anti-Jewish campaign was highly effective. Hitler told the people their problems were caused by the Weimar republic, the communists and especially the Jews. So Hitler provided a scapegoat to help his support.'

Being the largest single party in 1932, Hitler demanded the post of Chancellor. Hindenburg was suspicious of Hitler and allowed von Papen to continue. Papen and Schleicher both failed leaving Hitler. 'He, however, lost the support of the Reichstag, but after the November 1932 election Hindenburg again refused to appoint Hitler.'
 'In January 1933, Hindenburg and von Papen met secretly with industrialists, army leaders and politicians and on 30 January offered Hitler the post of Chancellor. They thought they could control Hitler, thinking the support for the Nazis was in decline. They were wrong!'

OR

'Under the effects of the Wall Street Crash (and the death of Stresemann) Germany sunk into economic depression. Under these circumstances, the old hostility to the Weimar Republic re-surfaced with people blaming the government. Many turned to parties, such as the Nazis, as they offered a radical solution to Germany's problems.'
 'Between 1930 and 1932 Hitler exploited the government's problems by holding huge rallies at which he promised to restore Germany's economy. This enabled the Nazi Party to win 230 seats in July 1932, becoming the largest party in the Reichstag – putting him in a position to be offered the position.'

 'To increase production.'
 'To replace War Communism.'
 'To end grain requisitioning.'

Level 3 Explains why [4–7]

(Award one mark for an explanation, additional mark for full explanation.)

e.g. 'Lenin was desperate to introduce production in the countryside as War Communism had resulted in food shortages in 1919-20 and famine in 1921. This was causing unrest.'
 'The peasants had stopped producing surplus food since they were no longer allowed to sell it for profit. This in turn led to food requisitioning where the Cheka seized grain. Many peasants burned crops rather than letting them fall into government hands.'
 'Lenin wanted to end the hated practice of requisitioning grain. He allowed the sale of extra grain, taking a 10% tax. This approach helped to reduce discontent in the countryside and increased the food available in towns.'

When there were not enough officers, he conscripted Tsarist officers into the army, taking their families' hostage to make sure they remained loyal. He established fierce discipline, including summary execution for deserters. He travelled around by train to meet the troops and spur them to greater efforts.'

'To win the war and ensure that the Red Army was fed and equipped Lenin introduced War Communism. The state took over all aspects of the economy, nationalising more industry and controlling the production and distribution of goods.'

OR

'The Whites were geographically split and unable to co-ordinate their efforts as communications were difficult. This enabled Trotsky to defeat them one by one.'

'The Whites had limited support from the Russian people who did not like the Bolsheviks but preferred them to the Whites as they treated people harshly. They realised if the Whites won the landlords would return.'

'The Bolsheviks had control of Moscow and Petrograd and also the railways which enabled arms and food to be supplied and moved to the troops. To win the war and ensure that the red Army was fed and equipped, War Communism was introduced. In the Second Plan transport and communications were boosted and new railways and canals built, the most spectacular being Moscow's underground railway.'
 'In agriculture the production of tractors and other farm machinery increased dramatically.'

OR

'It was not realised at first that there would be a need for skilled labour. This resulted in the necessity to introduce training schemes to create a skilled workforce. This resulted in a new elite class which went against Communist principles.'
 'There was enormous human cost as improvements were based on strict, harsh discipline enforced by secret police. On many large projects conditions were appalling, with many accidents and deaths.'

e.g. 'Because of lost markets.'

Level 2 Identifies why [2–4]

(One mark for each.)

e.g. 'The demand from Europe fell.'
'Canada was more efficient.'
'Because of over-production.'

Level 3 Explains why [4–7]

(Award one mark for an explanation, additional mark for full explanation.)

e.g. 'After the War, Europe imported far less food from the USA partly because Europe was poor and partly a response to US tariffs which stopped Europe exporting to the USA.'
'The Canadian wheat producers were highly efficient and brought stiff competition to the US farmers.'
'An underlying problem was over-production. Up to 1920, when farming was doing well, more and more land was used for farming. Improved machinery such as the combined harvester made US agriculture extremely efficient. The result of this was that it was producing surpluses of wheat nobody wanted.'
'With reduced incomes many farmers could not afford to pay back the loans they had taken out to buy the new machinery. This resulted in eviction and unemployment.'

'Trade unions were discriminated against.'
'New technology helped create consumer goods.'
'The expansion of the car industry boosted the economy.'

Level 3 Explains agreement OR disagreement [3–5]

e.g. 'The consumer boom was encouraged by the easy availability of credit. Hire purchase enabled consumers to buy goods they wanted with a small deposit and then pay the rest off in small weekly or monthly instalments. Mail-order catalogues gave people in every part of the country the chance to benefit from the consumer boom because the latest fashions were available by post.'

OR

'Presidents Harding and Coolidge believed in a policy of laissez-faire or not interfering with the economy. Instead they encouraged the growth of industry by low taxes. These encouraged business owners to invest and give consumers more money to spend.'
'They also protected American industry by introducing tariffs as part of the US isolationist policy. Here a tax was placed on foreign goods coming into the US, making them more expensive than those produced at home and thus making them harder to sell.'
'The Republican governments did not like trade unions. Employers were allowed to use violence to break strikes and refuse to employ union members. This meant employers could hold down wages and to keep working hours long.'
'The widespread availability of electricity created a demand for consumer goods such as radios, vacuum cleaners and refrigerators. This was aided by new products such as rayon, bakelite and cellophane.'
'The expansion of the motor industry boosted the whole economy as more and more cars were bought. It stimulated other industries such as the oil industry, the construction industry as well as steel, rubber and glass.'

'In May they gathered in camps around the city. Hoover saw these as a revolutionary threat and refused to meet them.'

'Congress voted against paying the bonus but the men decided to stay in Washington to continue the protest.'

e.g. 'Americans bought shares on the stock market to make a profit. As more shares were bought share prices kept rising. People bought shares on credit, expecting to sell them for a profit. This is called speculation. On Black Thursday prices plunged and this caused investors to sell to try and cut their losses.'

'People were allowed to buy 'on the margin' where they paid only a small percentage of the real price. Then re-selling at a profit and paying of the balance. Banks were happy to lend money but everything depended on the price going up. In 1928 shares prices did not rise as much as the economy was slowing down. Some speculators began to sell.'

'By the end of the 1920s, the US economy was slowing down. Demand for consumer goods was falling and therefore profits were reducing. American businessmen found it difficult to sell abroad because of the US tariff policy.'

'The Governor-General of India gained a new title (Viceroy of India), and implemented the policies devised by the India Office. The British colonial administration embarked on a programme of reform, trying to integrate Indian higher castes and rulers into the government and abolishing attempts at Westernisation. The Viceroy stopped land grabs, decreed religious tolerance and admitted Indians into civil service, albeit mainly as subordinates.'

'On a political level it was also felt that the previous lack of consultation between rulers and ruled had been yet another significant factor in contributing to the uprising. In consequence, Indians were drawn into government at a local level. Though this was on a limited scale a crucial precedent had been set, with the creation of a new 'white collar' Indian elite.'

(c) 'Bentinck had a greater impact on India than did Dalhousie.' How far do you agree with this statement? Explain your answer.

Level 1 Unsupported assertions [1]

Level 2 Identifies reasons [2–3]

e.g. 'Dalhousie improved communications.'
 'He tried to westernise.'
 'There was a mutiny.'

e.g. 'Bentinck was appointed Governor-General of Bengal in 1827. His principal concern was to turn around the loss-making East India Company, in order to ensure that its charter would be renewed by the British government. He engaged in an extensive range of cost-cutting measures, earning the lasting enmity of many military men whose wages were cut. Although his financial management of India was quite impressive, his modernising projects also included a policy of westernisation, which was more controversial. Reforming the court system, he made English, rather than Persian, the language of the higher courts and encouraged western-style education for Indians in order to provide more educated Indians for service in the British bureaucracy.'

'Bentinck also took steps to suppress suttee, the death of a widow on her husband's funeral pyre, and other Indian customs which the British viewed as barbaric. Although his reforms met little resistance among native Indians at the time, it has been argued that they brought on dissatisfaction which ultimately led to the great Mutiny of 1857. Bentinck returned to the UK in 1835.'

OR

'Lord Dalhousie tried to change Indian customs by trying to stamp out suttee. He also tried to depose weak and incompetent native rulers.'
