

MARK SCHEME for the May/June 2011 question paper for the guidance of teachers

0480 LATIN

0480/02

Paper 2 (Literature), maximum raw mark 80

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes must be read in conjunction with the question papers and the report on the examination.

- Cambridge will not enter into discussions or correspondence in connection with these mark schemes.

Cambridge is publishing the mark schemes for the May/June 2011 question papers for most IGCSE, GCE Advanced Level and Advanced Subsidiary Level syllabuses and some Ordinary Level syllabuses.

3 Of the two authors, Virgil and Ovid, which have you enjoyed reading more?

Answers should include discussion of the features of each author's work and may include differences and similarities between the two authors. Candidates may refer to humour in Ovid and seriousness and patriotism in Virgil, evocation of character in Ovid. For both authors: similes, vivid descriptions the choice of vivid adjectives and nouns, action verbs, use of imagery, use of personification, appeals to different senses, the filmic quality of the writing, the busyness of the scenes, emotions, pathos. These must be supported with examples from the texts. Candidates may achieve a maximum of 7 marks if only one author is mentioned. [10]

6 Why do you think Cicero had so much success with his speeches?

Answers may include:

'because he was an excellent speech writer and he put lots of rhetorical techniques in the speeches, such as questions, tricolons, emotional appeals, appeals to pride, sarcasm, mockery, humour, analogy, climax, anaphora...' with examples.

Candidates may also talk about delivery e.g. 'the speeches were very long and would have to have been delivered well to have worked so he must have been a good actor/speaker'.

Candidates may demonstrate wider reading e.g. 'because he studied rhetoric in Athens and Rhodes for two years' (See Introducing Cicero page X).

'because he relates his speeches to real life, e.g....'

'because he makes his speeches funny, e.g....'

A candidate can get full marks without referring to things outside the text but all correct points will be credited. [10]
