Section A: Research Methods

- 1 Much sociological research is conducted by means of questions. Sociologists ask questions in many ways about a huge range of topics. The topics may be as varied as housework and patterns of migration. Postal questionnaires are one way in which sociologists may ask questions. This type of research method is favoured by positivists.

Other methods of research concentrate on observing behaviour. The ways in which observation can be carried out vary and include participant observation and non-participant observation. Participant observation is used by sociologists who prefer to carry out qualitative research. Laboratory experiments may also be used to observe behaviour, but this method is rarely used in sociology.
