Part 3: Translation

Translate the following passage into Urdu.

Bill Gates, the founder of Microsoft, is the richest man in the world. Even he doesn't know how much money he has in the bank! He gives millions of dollars away to charities, and his good works include funding research into ways to combat malaria. Having so much money it must be difficult to know how to spend it! Recently an article appeared in a Spanish newspaper which reported that Bill needed a bigger house for his family. Of course it is only natural to want to have a big comfortable house in which to bring up one's family. He is married and has four children, two of whom are adopted.

Let me tell you about his house which he considers too small. There are over twenty bedrooms, each with their own bathroom, eight sitting rooms and an indoor gym and swimming pool in the basement. Outside there are two tennis courts and parking for about fifty cars. There is even a twenty-four seat cinema. Anyway, according to the newspaper, he needed a bigger house. The funniest part was that the journalist gave the article the headline "Poor Bill!" [20]
