

COMPARATIVE GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS

9770/04

Paper 4 Contemporary International Debates: Contexts and Comparisons

May/June 2011

1 hour 40 minutes

Additional Materials: Answer Paper/Booklet

READ THESE INSTRUCTIONS FIRST

If you have been given an Answer Booklet, follow the instructions on the front cover of the Booklet.

Write your Centre number, candidate number and name on all the work you hand in.

Write in dark blue or black pen.

Do not use staples, paper clips, highlighters, glue or correction fluid.

Answer two questions.

Every essay is marked out of 50.

Substantiated examples and critical evaluation must be drawn from various countries/regions of the world, and candidates will be expected to compare and contrast at least two of these in their answers, neither of which may be the UK or the USA (although either or both may be referenced for supplementary context or comparison).

This document consists of 2 printed pages.

Answer two questions.

- 1 How far do you agree that the only role for a state is to provide for the security of its citizens? [50]
- 2 'No state should ever intervene in the internal affairs of another state.' Assess this view. [50]
- 3 'Interdependence makes conflict between nation-states less likely.' How far do you agree? [50]
- 4 'There is no such thing as universal human rights.' Assess this view. [50]
- 5 To what extent does globalisation show the need for global government? [50]

Permission to reproduce items where third-party owned material protected by copyright is included has been sought and cleared where possible. Every reasonable effort has been made by the publisher (UCLES) to trace copyright holders, but if any items requiring clearance have unwittingly been included, the publisher will be pleased to make amends at the earliest possible opportunity.

University of Cambridge International Examinations is part of the Cambridge Assessment Group. Cambridge Assessment is the brand name of University of Cambridge Local Examinations Syndicate (UCLES), which is itself a department of the University of Cambridge.