Introduction

Cambridge Pre-U syllabuses aim to equip candidates with the skills required to make a success of their subsequent studies at university, involving not only a solid grounding in each specialist subject at an appropriate level, but also the ability to undertake independent and self-directed learning and to think laterally, critically and creatively. The Cambridge Pre-U curriculum is underpinned by a core set of educational principles:

- A programme of study which supports the development of well-informed, open and independent-minded individuals capable of applying their skills to meet the demands of the world as they will find it and over which they may have influence.
- A curriculum which retains the integrity of subject specialisms and which can be efficiently, effectively and reliably assessed, graded and reported to meet the needs of universities.
- A curriculum which is designed to recognise a wide range of individual talents, interests and abilities and which provides the depth and rigour required for a university degree course.
- A curriculum which encourages the acquisition of specific skills and abilities, in particular the skills of problem solving, creativity, critical thinking, team working and effective communication.
- The encouragement of 'deep understanding' in learning – where that deep understanding is likely to involve higher order cognitive activities.
- The development of a perspective which equips young people to understand a range of different cultures and ideas and to respond successfully to the opportunity for international mobility.

All Cambridge Pre-U Principal Subject syllabuses are linear. A candidate taking a Principal Subject must take all the components together at the end of the course in one examination session. A Short Course is provided for those who do not wish to take the subject through to Principal level, for those who desire a 'progress check', or for those opting out of a Principal Course but wishing to gain certification. A Cambridge Pre-U Short Course in a Modern Foreign Language is separate from, and cannot contribute towards, a Principal result.

This syllabus seeks to bring the teaching and learning of Modern Languages into close contact with the target language culture and, above all, with authentic language. By giving a solid context both linguistically and culturally within which candidates can develop their linguistic skills and awareness, Cambridge Pre-U strives to move away from the emphasis on classroom language towards an immersion in authentic language and culture.

In modern foreign languages, the advent of the internet enables the teacher and candidate to have access to a range of authentic press, television, radio and information that was previously unimaginable. Cambridge Pre-U encourages candidates to learn in context through a personal engagement with the culture by means of the new media available. Candidates and teachers are encouraged to build up a portfolio of authentic articles and thus sharpen the focus of learning through current affairs, in their widest sense. Teaching becomes more flexible, to be driven by both candidate and teacher interests and considerations. The sources for reading, listening and oral work are necessarily authentic and hence the Cambridge Pre-U seeks to move the classroom into contact with the culture of the target language in a concrete way. The ensuing written tasks, be they culturally specific or more general discursive essays, will therefore spring from a meaningful and engaging contextual knowledge. In order to facilitate the learning process, a number of topic areas have been identified, and all textual and listening material used in the examination will be drawn from them.

As a Pre-University qualification it is also important that value is placed on accuracy when reading and listening, but above all when speaking and writing. Grammatical competence and the ability to manipulate language beyond the safe bounds of self-generated oral or written work are essential for linguistic development beyond the age of 16 and a pre-requisite for study post 18. The Cambridge Pre-U therefore aims to improve technical ability in the language and will reward this through its mode of assessment, most obviously with the Writing and Usage paper but also in its mark schemes. Extensive use of authentic materials will acquaint the candidate with the differences in syntax, style and range of expression in the target language, and thereby help the candidate to develop an authentic feel for the language.

Flexibility in teaching and learning is also essential to the Cambridge Pre-U's approaches to literature and cultural topics, which seek to promote the development of critical and independent thinking. Intellectual advancement through close engagement with target language texts, the articulation of readings and justifications of opinions is carried out by candidates at this level in both the target language and English. There is a wide range of texts available in each language. The encouragement of reading and sustained critical thought through the study of literature will promote a finer feel for the subtleties and possibilities of the target language and crucially provide the essential critical tools and essay writing skills required for further study in both languages and other disciplines, as well as in the workplace.

The overarching ethos of the syllabus is to re-establish a meaningful link between sixth-form study and university. In maximising the potential of both candidates and teachers through its flexibility, the Cambridge Pre-U aims to reinvigorate the process of language learning in this country through a commitment to the promotion of cultural awareness, the development of critical faculties and by placing appropriate value on a firm command of the grammatical underpinning of the language.

In addition to providing a secure foundation for study in higher education, the syllabus equips candidates with a range of skills for careers in business, education and the arts.

This syllabus builds on the knowledge, understanding and skills typically gained by candidates taking Level 2 qualifications.

Cambridge Pre-U French

The aims of this syllabus are to enable candidates to develop the language skills needed for effective, sophisticated communication in French and to provide them with an opportunity to gain an insight into contemporary French-speaking societies around the world.

In addition to practising listening and reading, language-learning programmes adopted by schools should pay particular attention to the promotion of accuracy and the wealth of structures in the more active skills (speaking and writing). It is hoped that an emphasis on grammar and syntax will result in an increased sophistication in the way candidates can express their own ideas and build them into a cogent argument, be it orally or in essays.

Candidates are encouraged to learn vocabulary in context by engaging personally and building up a portfolio of authentic articles on current affairs falling under general newspaper sections such as A la une, Monde, Eco, Sciences, Société, Culture, Sports, Insolite and Médias. These articles can be obtained from a variety of free online sources, for example, <http://fr.news.yahoo.com>. A more youth-oriented perspective is available via Les Clés de l'Actualité or the BBC language site Accents d'Europe. In addition, there are many websites, such as <http://curiosphere.tv>, offering an extensive range of French-language links. An online French magazine at school might also prove to be a good forum to encourage discussion of Francophone issues among candidates.

Cambridge Pre-U German

The aims of this syllabus are to enable candidates to develop the language skills needed for effective, sophisticated communication in German and to provide them with an opportunity to gain an insight into contemporary German-speaking societies.

In addition to practising listening and reading, language-learning programmes adopted by schools should pay particular attention to the promotion of accuracy and the wealth of structures in the more active skills (speaking and writing). It is hoped that an emphasis on grammar and syntax will result in an increased sophistication in the way candidates can express their own ideas and build them into a cogent argument, be it orally or in essays.

Candidates are encouraged to learn vocabulary in context by engaging personally and building up a portfolio of authentic articles on current affairs falling under general newspaper sections such as Nachrichten, Politik, Panorama, Wirtschaft, Kultur, Wissen, Unterhaltung, Gesellschaft, Feuilleton, Sport. These articles can be obtained from a variety of free online sources. A broad base can be found on <http://de.news.yahoo.com> whilst a more youth-oriented perspective is available via the Federal Republic's website www.fluter.de. To aid teachers there is also <http://german.about.com>, a site which provides supporting vocabulary material as well as resources in other media. In addition there are many websites, such as www.zeitungen.de, offering links to an extensive range of German-language newspapers and other media. An online German magazine at school might also prove to be a good forum to encourage discussion of German-related issues among candidates.

Cambridge Pre-U Spanish

The aims of this syllabus are to enable candidates to develop the language skills needed for effective, sophisticated communication in Spanish and to provide them with an opportunity to gain an insight into Hispanic societies around the world (from Spain, in all its cultural and linguistic diversity, to Latin American Republics, the United States and Equatorial Guinea, as well as other areas with a distinct historical presence of Spanish such as the Philippines or the Jewish and Muslim worlds).

In addition to practising listening and reading, language-learning programmes adopted by schools should pay particular attention to the promotion of accuracy and the wealth of structures in the more active skills (speaking and writing). It is hoped that an emphasis on grammar and syntax will result in an increased sophistication in the way candidates can express their own ideas and build them into a cogent argument, be it orally or in essays.

Candidates are encouraged to engage personally in their learning and build up a portfolio of authentic articles, which can be obtained from a variety of free online sources. In this context, the Centro Virtual Cervantes (cvc.cervantes.es/oteador) might be useful as it offers links to a number of Spanish-language newspapers, radio and television stations throughout the world. An online Spanish magazine at school might also prove to be a good forum to promote discussion of Hispanic issues among candidates.

Cambridge Pre-U Russian

The aims of this syllabus are to enable candidates to develop the language skills needed for effective, sophisticated communication in Russian and to provide them with an opportunity to gain an insight into Russian societies around the world (from the Russian Federation, in all its cultural and linguistic diversity, to former Soviet Republics, Israel and any other areas with a distinct historical presence of Russian).

In addition to practising listening and reading, language-learning programmes adopted by schools should pay particular attention to the promotion of accuracy and the wealth of structures in the more active skills (speaking and writing). It is hoped that an emphasis on grammar and syntax will result in an increased sophistication in the way candidates can express their own ideas and build them into a cogent argument, be it orally or in essays.

Candidates are encouraged to engage personally in their learning and build up a portfolio of authentic articles, which can be obtained from a variety of free online sources. In this context, the Rambler website (www.rambler.ru) might be useful, as it offers links to a number of Russian-language newspapers, journals, radio and television stations throughout the world. An online Russian magazine at school might also prove to be a good forum to promote discussion of Russian issues among candidates.

Cambridge Pre-U Italian

The aims of this syllabus are to enable candidates to develop the language skills needed for effective, sophisticated communication in Italian and to provide them with an opportunity to gain an insight into Italian society and culture.

In addition to practising listening and reading, language-learning programmes adopted by schools should pay particular attention to the promotion of accuracy and the wealth of structures in the more active skills (speaking and writing). It is hoped that an emphasis on grammar and syntax will result in an increased sophistication in the way candidates can express their own ideas and build them into a cogent argument, be it orally or in essays.

Candidates are encouraged to engage personally in their learning and build up a portfolio of authentic articles, which could be obtained from a variety of free online sources (e.g. www.media.rai.it), newspapers (e.g. la Repubblica and Il Corriere della Sera) and current affairs magazines (e.g. L'Espresso and Panorama). An online Italian magazine at school might also prove to be a good forum to promote discussion of Italian issues among candidates.

Aims

- To develop the ability to understand the language in a variety of registers.
- To enable the candidate to communicate confidently and clearly in the target language.
- To form a sound base of skills, language and attitudes required for further study, work and leisure.
- To develop insights into the culture and civilisation of countries where the language is spoken.
- To encourage positive attitudes to language learning and a sympathetic approach to other cultures.
- To further intellectual and personal development by promoting learning and social skills.

Scheme of assessment

Candidates take all four components together at the end of the course in the same examination session.

Component	Name	Duration	Weighting (%)	Type of assessment
1	Speaking	c. 16 minutes	25	Externally assessed oral
2	Reading and Listening	2 hours 15 minutes	25	Externally set and marked written paper
3	Writing and Usage	2 hours 15 minutes	25	Externally set and marked written paper
4	Topics and Texts	2 hours 30 minutes	25	Externally set and marked written paper

Assessment objectives

A01	Understand and respond to texts written in the target language, drawn from a variety of sources such as magazines, newspapers, reports, books and other forms of extended written and spoken material.
A02	Manipulate the target language accurately in spoken and written forms to demonstrate an ability to choose appropriate examples of lexis and structure.
A03	Select and present information, organising arguments and ideas logically.
A04	Understand and respond to cultural topics and literary texts.

Relationship between scheme of assessment and assessment objectives

The table below shows the approximate weighting given to each assessment objective.

Assessment objective	Component 1 (marks)		Component 2 (marks)		Component 3 (marks)		Component 4 (marks)		Weighting (%)

Description of components

Component 1: Speaking

The oral exam, which will be conducted by a visiting Examiner, will last for approximately 16 minutes.

Part I: Newspaper article and related themes (30 marks)

Discussion of an article and related themes (about 8 minutes). Twenty minutes before the start of their oral, candidates will choose a newspaper article with a general heading in the target language (maximum length 200 words for French, German, Spanish and Italian; Russian 150 words) from a choice of four. Each article and heading will relate to one of the topic areas (see page 15). Candidates will present an overview of the article to the visiting Examiner for up to one minute. Then, in a discussion with the Examiner lasting for up to 3 minutes, candidates will put forward their opinions on the text and the issues arising from it. It is intended that the article will be a springboard for discussion, so a detailed analysis will not be required. The Examiner will broaden the discussion according to the general heading on the card (4 minutes). Dictionaries are not allowed. Candidates may make notes during the preparation time and use these as a prompt during the task. They must not read out prepared material. Mark grids will assess comprehension and discussion as well as linguistic competence.

Part II: Prepared oral topic (30 marks)

Prepared topic discussion (about 8 minutes). Candidates will research a topic related to the history, current affairs or culture (including art, cinema, literature and traditions) of an area of the world where the target language is spoken. They will identify 5 to 8 headings within their topic, and submit these to CIE two weeks before the oral examination on the form provided. In the examination, candidates will be allowed to present their research for up to 1 minute (identifying interesting/contentious points in their topic, and reasons for choosing it) before discussion of the headings starts. Candidates can bring the headings into the examination to act as a prompt. They may also bring up to three pieces of visual material. Mark grids will assess knowledge as well as linguistic competence.

Overview of Component 1

30 marks – Overview of article for up to 1 minute, discussion for up to 3 minutes, broadening of the discussion for up to 4 minutes.

30 marks – Prepared topic discussion (about 8 minutes).

N.B.

In order to avoid duplication of examined material, candidates may not use any of the texts or films listed in the syllabus for Component 4 (Topics and Texts) as the subject of their speaking test presentation (Component 1).

Candidates may, however, draw upon any general topic area in their Component 1 discussion, irrespective of which topic they decide to tackle in Component 4. For example, a Pre-U French candidate studying the topic La France pendant la guerre could discuss the maquis or the French Resistance as part of their speaking exam and still answer a question in Component 4 from the topic area La France pendant la guerre.

Component 2: Reading and Listening

Part I: Reading (30 marks)

Reading (1 hour and 15 minutes). There will be two passages with a combined limit of 600 words (Russian 450 words). The first one will have reading comprehension questions in the target language requiring answers in the target language. Although these answers will not be assessed for quality of language, candidates must not lift phrases from the passage. The second passage will have questions in English and will require answers in English. The third exercise will be a re-translation from English into the target language of a paragraph of about 75 words based on the stimulus of the earlier reading passages.

For text 1 and text 2, no individual question will be worth more than 3 marks.

Part II: Listening (30 marks)

Listening (1 hour). Candidates will have control of their own individual listening equipment. There will be three passages with a combined limit of 700 to 800 words (Russian 500–600 words). The first will have listening comprehension questions in the target language requiring answers in the target language, whereas questions for the second passage will be in English and require answers in English. Answers in the target language will not be assessed for quality of language. Candidates will then listen to a third recording of about 250 words (Russian 180 words) and will summarise it in English using bullet points for guidance (maximum of 100 words).

For text 1 and text 2, no individual question will be worth more than 2 marks.

Overview of Component 2

10 marks – A reading passage with questions in target language (TL).

10 marks – A reading passage with questions in English.

10 marks – A re-translation from English into TL of about 75 words.

10 marks – A recording with questions in TL.

10 marks – A recording with questions in English.

10 marks – A guided summary (max. 100 words) of a recording of 250 words (Russian 180 words).

N.B.

In the Reading part (Component 2, Part I) candidates are instructed not to copy phrases directly from the text. It is important that candidates should use their own words as far as possible, but it is not expected that they should find a synonym for every word used in the source text. Questions usually require an answer that cannot sensibly be answered by lifting directly from the text, without some manipulation of language (e.g. noun to verb, first person to third). Candidates must not lift large chunks of text in the hope that the answer is to be found somewhere within it, as this will invalidate their answer.

Component 3: Writing and Usage

Part I: Writing (40 marks)

Discursive essay (1 hour and 30 minutes). There will be a choice of 5 titles of a discursive nature, all of which will be rooted in the general topic areas. Candidates will have to write one essay in the target language with a recommended length of 350–450 words (Russian 250–350 words). Relevant examples, be they from the areas of the world where the target language is spoken or not, are encouraged. This part of the examination will be assessed for accuracy and range, as well as development and organisation of ideas.

Part II: Usage (20 marks)

Use of the target language (45 minutes). Exercise 1 will be a verb test (5 marks). In Exercise 2 candidates will be required to transform sentences (using prompts given) without changing their original meaning (5 marks). Exercise 3 will consist of a cloze test of twenty multiple-choice questions on a range of grammatical points (10 marks).

All exercises in Part II will be based on the Pre-U grammar syllabus.

Overview of Component 3

40 marks – One discursive essay of a recommended length of 350–450 words in TL (Russian 250–350 words).

20 marks – Verb test (5 marks).

Sentence transformation exercise (5 marks).

Cloze test on a range of grammatical points (10 marks).

Component 4: Topics and Texts

For topics and texts see Appendix 2.

The cultural topics and literary texts in this syllabus are for examination in 2013.

For examination in 2014 onwards, please see the CIE website (www.cie.org.uk), as changes may occur.

Candidates must choose and prepare one topic from Part I (Cultural topics) and one text from Part II (Literary texts).

Part I: Cultural topics (30 marks)

Cultural topics (1 hour and 15 minutes). For this part, candidates have to prepare two texts/films within the same topic. In the examination, they will be required to answer one general question with an essay in the target language of a recommended length of 350–500 words (Russian 250–400 words) on both texts/films combined. There will be a choice of two essay titles per topic. The emphasis here should be on the acquisition of a broad cultural knowledge of the topic studied through the material chosen, rather than on literary/film criticism.

Part II: Literary texts (30 marks)

Literary texts (1 hour and 15 minutes). Candidates prepare one text for this part. In the examination, they will have to answer one question with an essay in English of a recommended length of 450–600 words on their chosen text, for which there will be a choice between a commentary and two essay titles. This part of the examination will promote literary appreciation through detailed textual analysis.

Overview of Component 4

30 marks – One essay on a chosen cultural topic of a recommended length of 350–500 words in the target language (Russian 250–400 words) to combine two texts/films.

30 marks – One essay on a chosen literary text of a recommended length of 450–600 words in English.

Texts and notes may not be taken into the examination.

Topic areas

All textual material used in the examination will be drawn from the topic areas below, with reference to the country or countries where the language is spoken.

Appendix 3: Grade descriptors

The following grade descriptors indicate the level of attainment characteristic of the middle of the given grade band. They give a general indication of the required standard at each specified grade. The descriptors should be interpreted in relation to the content outlined in the syllabus; they are not designed to define the content.

The grade awarded will depend in practice upon the extent to which the candidate has met the assessment objectives overall. Shortcomings in some aspects of the examination may be balanced by better performances in others.

Distinction (D2)

Very good level of understanding and/or knowledge, expressed in well argued responses with relevant illustration; high level of accuracy, wide range of vocabulary and complex sentence patterns; a sense of idiom; very good pronunciation and intonation.

Merit (M2)

Good level of understanding and/or knowledge; responses showing some ability to develop argument with appropriate illustration; generally accurate in simple structures but variable success in more complex language; adequate vocabulary and pronunciation.

Pass (P2)

Uneven and/or basic responses showing some level of understanding and/or knowledge expressed with limited argument and illustration; gaps in grammatical awareness; simple and repetitive sentence patterns and vocabulary; many sounds mispronounced.

Appendix 4: Additional information

Guided learning hours

It is intended that each Principal Subject should be delivered through 380 hours of guided learning. This is a notional measure of the substance of the qualification. It includes an estimate of the time that might be allocated to direct teaching or instruction, together with other structured learning time such as directed assignments or supported individual study and practice. It excludes learner-initiated private study.

Certification title

These qualifications are shown on a certificate as:

- Cambridge International Level 3 Pre-U Certificate in French (Principal)
- Cambridge International Level 3 Pre-U Certificate in German (Principal)
- Cambridge International Level 3 Pre-U Certificate in Spanish (Principal)
- Cambridge International Level 3 Pre-U Certificate in Russian (Principal)
- Cambridge International Level 3 Pre-U Certificate in Italian (Principal)

The qualifications are accredited at Level 3 of the UK National Qualifications Framework and provide a solid grounding for candidates to pursue a variety of progression pathways.

Entries

For entry information please refer to the UK E3 Booklet.

Grading and reporting

The Cambridge International Level 3 Pre-U Certificates in the Principal Subjects are qualifications in their own right. They are acceptable as an alternative to A Level (or other Level 3 qualifications) for entry into higher education or employment. Each individual Principal Subject is graded separately on a scale of nine grades: Distinction 1, Distinction 2, Distinction 3, Merit 1, Merit 2, Merit 3, Pass 1, Pass 2, Pass 3.

Subjects can also be combined with two core components to meet the requirements for eligibility for the Cambridge International Level 3 Pre-U Diploma. More details about the Diploma requirements and the core components can be found in a separate Diploma syllabus. The results of the individual Principal Subjects are reported on a separate certificate to the Diploma result.

Classification code for UK Centres

In the UK, every syllabus is assigned to a national classification code that indicates the subject area to which it belongs. UK Centres should be aware that candidates who enter for more than one qualification with the same classification code will have only one grade (the highest) counted for the purpose of the School and College Performance Tables.

The classification code for each language is as follows: 5650 (French); 5670 (German); 5750 (Spanish); 6090 (Russian) and 5690 (Italian).

Language

This syllabus and the associated assessment materials are currently available in English only.

Procedures and Regulations

This syllabus complies with the CIE Code of Practice and The Statutory Regulation of External Qualifications 2004.

Further information about the administration of Cambridge Pre-U qualifications can be found in the CIE Handbook for UK Centres available from CIE Publications or by contacting international@cie.org.uk.

Spiritual, moral, ethical, social, legislative, economic and cultural issues

This syllabus contributes to an understanding of these issues through the study of topic areas and the study of culture for Component 4.

Sustainable development, environmental education, health and safety considerations, European dimension and international agreements

This syllabus contributes to an understanding of these issues through the study of topic areas. The opportunity to study culture and literature in Component 4 allows candidates to gain specific insights into the societies, both in Europe and in the rest of the world, where the language is spoken.

The European dimension is clearly covered in every aspect of the syllabus through the study of French, German, Spanish, Russian or Italian in the European context. Emphasis is also placed, where appropriate, on studying the international context of the language.

Avoidance of bias

CIE has taken great care in the preparation of this syllabus and assessment materials to avoid bias of any kind.

Key Skills

This syllabus provides opportunities for the development of evidence for the Key Skills of: Communication, Application of Number, Information Technology, Working with Others, Improving Own Learning and Performance and Problem Solving at Levels 2 and/or 3. However, the extent to which this evidence fulfils the Key Skills criteria at these levels will be totally dependent on the style of teaching and learning adopted for each section.

The Key Skills awarding bodies and the regulatory authorities have produced a suite of example portfolios that will help to give candidates and practitioners a clear understanding of the requirements for the Key Skills portfolio. These are available on the QCDA Key Skills website (www.qcda.org.uk/keyskills). Full details of the requirements for certification can be obtained from the awarding bodies that are approved to offer Key Skills. For further information about Key Skills assessment, please see the document The Key Skills Qualifications Standards and Guidance published by the Qualifications and Curriculum Authority 2004 (ISBN 1 85838 548 2).

The following table indicates where opportunities may exist for at least some coverage of the various Key Skills criteria at Levels 2 and/or 3 for each section.
