Let me take care of today, tomorrow shall take care of itself

1. Introduction: Ever since his arrival on the face of this Earth, man has subdued the greatest adversities of his life by devising an effective mitigation plan then and there. But unfortunately, the modern society in its quest of worldly desires has become oblivious to its day-to-day obligations and prefers to indulge in high sounding future planning devoid of any practical action.

2. What is meant by 'me' here?

Considering the severity of challenges confronted by modern society, every social entity has to take care of its today. So, 'me' signifies:

- a) An individual
- b) A nation-State
- c) World community as a whole

3. What needs to be taken care of immediately?

- a) At individual level
  - i. Materialism and restlessness
  - ii. Moral decline
  - iii. Evasion of obligations and insistence on rights only
  - iv. Estrangement from Religion

- b) At State level

(Challenges confronted by developed and developing States awaiting their timely solution*were separately discussed)

- c. At Global level
  - i. Climate change
  - ii. Nuclear weapons
  - iii. Food crisis
  - iv. Economic crunch
  - v. Energy depletion

4. What is at stake?

An immediate collective action plan is required to solve these problems as they are endangering our joint existence in animal kingdom.

5. How these timely actions will take care of our future?

They will:

- a) Redress the suffering soul of man
- b) Address the decline of social values in society
- c) Produce responsible future generations
- d) Prevent next global economic meltdown
- f) Avert the problem of global warming
- g) Remove class disparities
- h) Check third world war

Conclusion: Since "the only alternate to coexistence is co-destruction", all we need is to start taking care of our today to ensure a safe and prosperous tomorrow.
