7. Conclusion

Yes, Pakistani society regard woman as angel in house because Pakistani society is based on the Islamic ideology and Islam is a religion of peace and regard for rights of all human beings. Before Islam, the Arabs deprived woman from the rights and humiliate her and there was regard for woman as source of all evil. Islamic education converted the people from animals into humans. Islam gives full rights to woman according to the shariah. Pakistan had got independence on the Islamic basis. In Islam women are regarded as angels in house in the shape of mother, daughter, sister and wife. The roles and duties which are performed by woman in Pakistani society confer woman more than angels. Woman is also considered as source of all evils in some areas of Pakistani but due to misconceptions and misunderstandings. Thus, Pakistani society regard woman as an angel in house.

Islam has been playing vital role since beginning for the awareness of the people. Before, Islam the Arabs used to humiliate woman by depriving them from their rights in property or society. They were buried alive. Such type of injustices and immoral activities vanished from those people who accepted Islam. Islam is blessing for the woman rights.

Islamic shariah supports woman rights in economic, social and religious aspects of life. Woman has been given 1/8 of the property as mother. The respect for a woman is considered in Islamic society in the eyes of father, brother, husband, etc. The religious education is necessary for woman to be given. Islamic shariah is freedom for woman from evils of society.

Pakistan had got independence on the ground of Islam. Woman has same trainings and learnings of Islamic society as Islam recommends. Woman has also been recognized with the same status as she has in heavens. Woman as a mother has paradise under her feet. As a daughter, she is blessing for her father. A sister for her brother is great helper. As a wife, companions of her husband's life. Such kind of regards for woman in Pakistani society are greatest of all other worldly societies.

Woman plays vital role and duties in Pakistani society in house which makes her above the angelic regard. Woman as a mother sacrifices all her nights and days when she is blessed a baby by Allah. What a great duty and role this is! As a daughter, a woman serves her father and takes care of her respect and obeys all the decisions of her father for his pleasure. A sister in Pakistani society is a great helper for her brothers. She plays games with brothers and helps in other activities, like, education. The above roles and duties make a woman more than angels in Pakistani society in house.

Woman is considered a source of all evil in some areas of Pakistan but this regard is based on the misconceptions and misunderstandings created by the evil nature of man. The activity of KaroKari is against law. In this woman is used to victimize a man because in KaroKari, both the man and woman are killed. The illiterate people do this activity to fulfill their financial, social or political purposes. Another, problem is sexual harassment for a woman. In the offices or organizations where she works, the people of ill will for their need of sex, blame a woman to blackmail her. For this type of misconceptions woman in Pakistani society can not be regarded as source of all evil.

In simple words, Pakistani society regard woman as an angel in house because it is an Islamic society. Analysis of historical perspective and Islamic light favors Islam as the best for woman. The status, role and duties of woman played in house in Pakistani society prove woman more than angelic regard. There are some misconceptions in some territories of Pakistani society which are baseless to regard woman as source of all evil. Woman is regarded as angel in house in Pakistani society.
